DETAILED ACTION

1. The applicant's amendment filed October 30, 2007 has been fully considered. Claims 11-19 are pending. At this time claims 11-19 are still rejected.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed October 30, 2007, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 11-19 under 35 USC § 103 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. However, upon an in-depth reviewed and further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Reiger III (US 6,654,800). Thus, the previous rejection has been withdrawn.

The fact that Examiner may not have specifically responded to any particular arguments made by Applicant and Applicant's Representative should not be construed as indicating Examiner's agreement therewith.

Election/Restrictions

3. Applicant's election with traverse of Species 2 in the reply filed on May 17, 2007 is acknowledged.

Claims 1-10 are withdrawn by the applicant from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species 2 and species 3. Election was made with traverse in the reply filed on December 11, 2006. This is not found persuasive because each of the various disclosed species details a mutual exclusive characteristic of:

Species 1 is drawn to "An information system comprising an information access point relating to at least one pre-determined geographical area, said information access point including apparatus for retrieving information relating to computing platforms located within said pre-determined geographical area, together with security attributes of said computing platforms, said information system being arranged to provide said information to a user upon request."

platforms located within said pre-determined geographical area, said information system being arranged to provide said information to a user upon request."

These above individual species act as evidenced by the representation of each various species with a different figure or set of figures.

A search for one of these mutually exclusive characteristics is not coextensive with a search for the other mutually exclusive characteristics and therefore searching for all mutually exclusive characteristics could not be done without serious burden. The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Information Disclosure Statement

4. The information disclosure statement (IDS) filed on July 02, 2007 is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 11-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Meadows et al (US 6,716,101 B1), and further in view of Rieger III (US 6,654,800).

a. Referring to claim 11:

i. Meadows teaches an information system comprising:

(1) an information access point relating to at least one pre-determined geographical area, said information access point including apparatus for retrieving information relating to trusted computing platforms located within said pre-determined geographical area, said information system being arranged to provide said information to a user upon request (column 2, lines 3-28 and column 5, lines 13-29 of Meadows).

ii. Although Meadow teaches an information system using access point with related pre-determined geographical area for network communication via authorized user/client, Meadow is silent on the capability of communicating with trusted computing platform (e.g., system using password and authorized region). On the other hand, Rieger teaches this limitation in column 5, line 60 through column 6, line 16 of Rieger.

iii. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to:

(1) have modified the invention of Meadow with the teaching of Rieger for monitoring geographical location and movement (column 1, line 11 of Meadow).

iv. The ordinary skilled person would have been motivated to:

(1) have modified the invention of Meadow with the teaching of Rieger for providing the location information to an authorized user through the world wide web (column 2, lines 4-6 of Meadow).

b. Referring to claim 12:

i. The combination of teaching between Meadows and Rieger teaches the claimed subject matter. Meadows further teaches:

(1) wherein said information system is arranged to provide as said information only details and/or a list of public keys (e.g., access codes) of genuine trusted computing platforms within said pre-determined geographical area (column 5, lines 13-29 of Meadows).

c. Referring to claim 13:

i. The combination of teaching between Meadows and Rieger teaches the claimed subject matter. Rieger further teaches:

(1) wherein said information access point comprises a trusted computing platform (column 5, line 60 through column 6, line 16 of Rieger).

d. Referring to claim 14:

i. The combination of teaching between Meadows and Rieger teaches the claimed subject matter. Meadow further teaches:

(1) comprising apparatus for communicating or interacting with a user's portable computing apparatus (column 5, lines 30-47 of Meadows).

e. Referring to claim 15:

i. The combination of teaching between Meadows and Rieger teaches the claimed subject matter. Meadows further teaches:

(1) wherein said apparatus for communicating or interacting a user's portable computing apparatus is arranged to perform said communication or interaction by physical contact or directional wireless communication (column 5, lines 30-47 of Meadows).

f. Referring to claims 16-17:

i. The combination of teaching between Meadows and Rieger teaches the claimed subject matter. Meadows further teaches:

(1) incorporating or accompanied by a declaration concerning the trustworthiness of the system; wherein said declaration is capable of interpretation by a user without preprocessing by an information processing system [i.e., Figures 4 and 5 shows the graphical user interface for monitoring system for monitoring the four adolescent children and the three individuals (column 5, lines 48-67 and column 6, lines 1-36 of Meadows)].

g. Referring to claim 18:

i. The combination of teaching between Meadows and Rieger teaches the claimed subject matter. Rieger further teaches:

(1) arranged to verify the identity of a user (column 5, line 60 through column 6, line 16 of Rieger).

h. Referring to claim 19:

i. This claim has limitations that is similar to those of claim 15, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 15 above.
